3. Desired length of the workshop

The desired length and scheduling of your workshop (i.e., a one/two-day workshop held before/after the main conference).

4. Abstract for ICSE 2008 web site

A brief abstract of your workshop intended for the ICSE 2008 web pages of at most 175 words.

5. Workshop theme

Theme and topics of interest of your workshop

6. Workshop goals

The goals of your workshop

7. Relevance of the workshop

A statement discussing the relevance to the field of software engineering

8. Plans for discussion at the workshop

Describe in detail how you plan to stimulate and generate discussion at the workshop. A pure conference-style paper presentation format without significant discussion is inappropriate for an ICSE workshop. This is one of the most important evaluation criteria.

9. Number of expected participants

List a range of desired or expected attendees

10. Workshop web site and CFP

Links for the preliminary web site and call for papers of your workshop

11. Previous instances of this workshop

List previous instances of your workshop, if any, and include the following information for each workshop instance: host conference, year, web site as well as the number of submissions and participants

12. Participation and Selection Process

Describe the intended audience and the participation and selection process for your workshop

13. Workshop proceedings

Plans for the workshop proceedings including an ideal number of papers and the maximum number of pages per paper imposed by the workshop (i.e., 4-10 pages)

14. Workshop proceedings

Plans for electronic submission of papers; ICSE 2008 has arranged for accepted workshops to be able to use, if desired, CyberChairPRO.

15. Proposed Program Committee

Indicate whether the PC members have been contacted yet.
